“River Hero” National Award to Avid Volunteer

Roger Frymire of Cambridge, MA, an avid advocate for the rivers and streams in Massachusetts and New Hampshire was nominated by the Merrimack River Watershed Council (MRWC) as a “National River Hero”, an award by the River Network, a leading nationwide movement to preserve, restore, and protect clean and healthy waters. Appropriately, the “National River Hero” Award was presented to Roger Frymire by Christine Tabak, Executive Director of the MRWC during festivities of the annual National River Rally, a 500+ participant conference of watershed conservationists and others working and volunteering for safe, clean water that took place in Baltimore May 29-June 1st.
